School Setting

Our vision is for all our pupils to “Let your light shine before others, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven” (Matthew 5:16). To that end the Relationships and Sex Education Policy and programme have been written to develop pupils’ sense of responsibility, integrity and compassion.

Woodchurch High School is a highly successful, larger than average fully inclusive 11-16 comprehensive school. Wirral is an Authority with selective education: four Grammar Schools and a further three schools with entrance examinations. School is consistently over-subscribed, ranked as the eighth most over-subscribed school in Merseyside (2018) and most over-subscribed school on the Wirral, despite annually falling rolls overall for the Authority (e.g., for the 2015-18 entries, Woodchurch High School had more 1st, 2nd and 3rd preferences than any other school in the Authority, 2016 and 2017 had over 60 appeals, and over 75 in 2018 etc.). Every child really does matter. As such, the school consistently seeks to build upon its previous best.

Very few pupils come from each of the eleven ethnic minority backgrounds, although this figure is increasing: e.g. in 2006/07 1.8% were not White British, but in 2018/19 this had risen to 4%. Only 0.19% use English as an additional language. Currently the PP stands at 43% of the school population. The school became a ‘full’ Church of England Academy (having previously been ‘A School with a Church of England Trust’) in April 2014.

The school works closely with a wide range of external agencies including the Educational Support Service, Child and Family Service and the Police Authority.

Information about local health issues is received in a number of formats. The main health issues identified recently are: obesity, teenage pregnancy, sexually transmitted Infections, especially Chlamydia, underage drinking, underage smoking and emotional health. The educational social worker and child and family service all provide further information about individual pupils’ needs.

Policy Review

The coordinator for the RSE Policy is the Curriculum Leader for PSHE. Consultations on the policy take place in many different ways including meetings, interviews, questionnaires, pupil voice and evidence based research. Outcomes of these consultations are used to update the policy.

The policy is reviewed by members of the Senior Leadership Team, PSHE staff, the School Chaplain and Governors.

RSE Values Framework

The RSE programme at Woodchurch High School is based on the following values framework (adapted from the Wirral draft framework) and reflects our Christian ethos

1. We value the wellbeing of children and young people being placed at the centre of RSE.
2. We value young people gaining the knowledge and skills to develop personal relationships which impact positively on their health and wellbeing- emotionally, physically and spiritually.
3. We value children and young people being guided to develop mutually respectful attitudes towards themselves and others, and to understand that with rights come responsibilities.
4. We value the provision of accurate, evidence based, interactive and interesting RSE provision which highlights the positive and negative consequences of sexual activity at different stages of life and within different relationships, in line with legislation and local and national policies.
5. We value children and young people's rights to be well informed and aware of the stages of their physical and emotional development, at appropriate ages, to enable them to develop respectful, enjoyable relationships and avoid exploitation and abuse.
6. We value the importance of family life and stable, loving, respectful relationships-for many this will mean marriage.
7. We value the role of parents, carers and faith communities in explaining their faith and cultural perspectives to children and young people and to work in partnership to support them through their physical, emotional and spiritual development.
8. We value the right of children and young people to have opportunities to express their views appropriately in safe and supportive environments within schools and other settings.
9. We value young people having the opportunity to access services and organisations which give support, information and resources designed to prevent any negative consequences of personal relationships and sex.
10. We value children and young people's rights within different cultures and faiths; this has been taken into account when planning the learning programmes.
11. We value children and young people's development of critical awareness, enabling them to challenge irresponsible messages from a range of media sources and promote positive messages about respectful relationships.

School Ethos

The safe and inclusive school ethos acts as a backdrop for the successful delivery of RSE. Positive pupil – pupil, pupil – staff and staff – staff relationships enable a positive learning environment and one where pupils know that their wellbeing is valued and supported.

Effective RSE contributes to this school ethos and to the development of respectful relationships. It also contributes to being a healthy school and effective Social Moral Spiritual and Cultural Education.

Curriculum

The RSE programme is securely embedded in the PSHE curriculum and is part of every pupil's learning. The curriculum demonstrates progression and is supported by the School Nurse, the Brook and other outside agencies.

Key Stage 3 (years 7, 8 and 9) are taught SRE within the PSHE curriculum, currently delivered during one timetabled lesson each fortnight. Key stage 4 are taught SRE through a range of methods e.g. drop-down days, stand-alone sex education sessions delivered by a trained health professional and within a programme of whole year group assemblies. RSE is also delivered within topics on health and in conjunction with the Brook Response and other agencies as appropriate. Biological aspects of SRE are taught within the science curriculum, and other aspects are included in religious education (RS), Health and Social Care and also Child Development.

As well as provision for all pupils in a year group there are targeted approaches when necessary. Pupils are carefully selected for targeted workshops etc. by Pupil Progress Leaders, Assistant Pupil Progress Leaders and learning mentors.

Children with additional needs in years 7 and 8 attend the timetabled PSHE lessons and when required, teaching assistants support. There is similar personalised learning for pupils with physical and medical impairment.

As well as timetabled PSHE lessons and work covered in some other subjects pupils are made aware through assemblies and training sessions of support services such as the Kooth online counselling website. Health Services in Schools is also an established part of school provision and the School Nurse and Youth Worker are available in the library every Monday lunchtime.

The PSHE Curriculum Leader ensures staff are provided with engaging lesson plans and resources throughout the school. They organise training for staff and monitors the quality of teaching and learning in the lessons. The curriculum is as follows:

Year 7 – Friendship, bullying, cyberbullying, relationships, how to build and maintain positive relationships, what should I do when a friendship becomes toxic, when friendship turns to romance, telling someone you love them, consent and the law, consequences of sex.

Year 8 – Healthy lifestyles (drugs & alcohol), personal hygiene, risky behaviour, mental health, self-harm, personal responsibility, upskirting.

Year 9 – Relationships, consent, rape, abuse, sexual relationships and unrealistic expectations, pornography, pornography and the law, STIs, methods of contraception - advantages and disadvantages of each, mental health.

Year 10 – Relationship skills, delay training, contraception, SSI's including HIV/Aids, sexual health services, pornography, personal responsibility, risky behaviour, upskirting, child sexual exploitation.

Year 11 – Safer choices, healthy relationships, contraception, SSI's, teenage pregnancy, sexual bullying, personal responsibility, risky behaviour, upskirting, child sexual exploitation.

Teaching and Learning

a) Useful strategies

Pupils need to feel safe and relaxed about discussing issues relating to relationships and sex and for this to happen teachers need to feel the same. They are encouraged to use a range of strategies to help young people think through and openly discuss their ideas, thoughts and feelings. These may include:

Ground Rules

These are created by the pupils and are used to ensure a safe learning environment in which pupils know their views will be respected and they will be listened to. They will feel able to ask questions and know that these will be taken seriously. They are also told about places/websites etc. where they can seek further support of information.

Distancing Techniques

Examples of these are case studies and scenarios that allow pupils to express their opinions and talk through things which may have happened to them. By projecting their personal experiences into make-believe situations they are able to examine the range of possible outcomes in a secure and risk-free environment.

Responding to Questions

Establishing clear boundaries of what is acceptable and unacceptable in a lesson minimises unexpected questions or comments from pupils but there will still be occasions when something unexpected occurs. If a pupil asks a personal question the teacher reminds the pupil that this is inappropriate.

If a question from a pupil demonstrates inappropriate levels of knowledge or raises concerns about any safeguarding issue it is important that the teacher talks with the pupil individually later on. If, after this discussion, the teacher still has concerns, the school's safeguarding procedures must be followed.

Discussion

Small groups or pairs are useful for RSE discussions as pupils are often more likely to talk in this situation rather than the whole class. If there is a report back to the whole class the opinions presented can be de-personalised.

Reflection and Feedback

Pupils need to be given time to reflect on their progress during RSE lessons and it is crucial that they receive feedback from the teacher so that they know how they are progressing and what they need to do to make further progress.

Single Sex Grouping

This is usually used in small group sessions and in other workshops run by external providers such as The Brook.

b) Lesson Planning

All RSE schemes of work provide a range of opportunities for pupils to learn, practice and improve skills, develop attitudes and knowledge, and are based on the PSHE National Curriculum.

Schemes through year 7 and 8 consist of individual lesson plans driven by PLCs, which follow the Woodchurch High School lesson structure with objectives, keywords and activities, which it is the responsibility of each teacher to adapt to use with their particular class. Plans must ensure that the learning experiences meet the needs of all pupils in the group and that any teaching assistants are effectively deployed. Activities must be well suited to help pupils achieve the lesson objectives and outcomes, and they must be given the chance to record their learning and reflect on their progress. Baseline assessments are used in order to gauge the children's progress and inform data drops.

c) Staff Development

CPD is a regular feature for staff teaching RSE. There are termly PSHE meetings when staff are coached and good practice is shared regarding teaching and learning, resources and assessment. They are also made aware of external training, when available. The PSHE Curriculum Leader carries out individual coaching and support, scrutinises work produced in Key Stage 3 lessons, and gives feedback to help staff improve. Whole school CPD and that done within faculties or other departments also contribute to staff development.

Resources

The PSHE leader is responsible for ordering and organising the department's resources. All resources support the values and aims of the RSE programme. They contribute to a broad, balanced PSHE curriculum, conform to the legal requirements of RSE and are appropriate to pupils' needs. Resources are selected that allow pupils to work at the appropriate level, hence literacy levels are carefully considered as is the age-appropriateness of content.

Curriculum Evaluation

The PSHE leader is responsible for reviewing and evaluating the RSE programme. This is done using information from the PSHE Association and the Sex Education Forum. Staff are asked for feedback on the effectiveness of the schemes of work and pupils are consulted on their views using a number of different activities and resources. Parents are consulted through Curriculum Evenings and Governors' meetings.

Specific Issues

a. Confidentiality

It is not possible for any member of staff to offer unconditional confidentiality to any young person. All concerns about safety of pupils must be considered within safeguarding procedures and any concerns passed on to the school's Child Protection Co-ordinator.

b. Withdrawal

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory components of RSE.

Parents can identify when RSE is being covered by referring to the PHSE Key Stage 3 overview document on the school website.

Requests for withdrawal should be addressed to the headteacher. Parents/carers have the right to withdraw their child from RSE following a meeting with the headteacher in order to clarify content and aims of lessons and also to discuss any concerns. The headteacher will discuss the request with parents and take appropriate action.

Appropriate alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from RSE.

c. Contraceptive Advice

Contraception is covered in Years 9 and above, both within the PSHE programme and during the personal health events. The School Nurse supports with this and pupils are signposted to other support services such as The Brook, GUM Clinic at Arrowe Park, and Health Services in Schools.

If a young person is about to become or has become sexually active, he / she will be given contraceptive advice in a 1:1 situation through, for example, Health Services in Schools. Pupils will be asked to reflect carefully on the nature of their relationship and whether they are ready for a full sexual relationship. Contraceptive advice will be given in complete confidence.

d. Outside visitors

Visitors make a significant positive contribution to learning in RSE. Their inputs are discussed in the planning stage and the learning objectives are clearly stated. They are informed where their input fits into the curriculum and about the school's confidentiality policy and safeguarding procedures. Staff and visitor responsibilities are clarified and staff are given adequate notice of the sessions. Pupils and staff evaluate the sessions and these are passed to the PSHE Subject Leader to inform future planning.

Review

The RSE policy will be reviewed every two years and any changes that are necessary at that time will be presented to the Curriculum Committee and through that to Full Governors for ratification.
